CDC has stated that COVID-19 is a respiratory disease caused by a new type of virus that has spread across the world. The virus can cause serious illness and death, and can also cause long-term health problems. The virus spreads through close contact with infected people. The virus can be transmitted through respiratory droplets, which are small particles that are exhaled when an infected person coughs, sneezes, or talks. The virus can also be transmitted through contact with contaminated surfaces.
